JAMES WREN TAYLOR

MANAGER

Zack has been around the great American game for a long time, for it was in 1915 that he decided upon a career in professional baseball. His first contract was with the Valdosta club in the old Flag league as a catcher, the only position he has ever played. His ball playing days, interspersed with some coaching and managerial assignments, lasted until 1940. He was playing manager of the Allentown club for part of the New York-Pennsylvania league's 1935 season, and a Brooklyn coach in 1936. Zack piloted the San Antonio Missions for three consecutive seasons, 1937-38-39. In 1940 he moved north to manage the Toledo club in the American Association and remained as pilot of the Mud Hens until June, 1941, when he was called to St. Louis as a Brownie coach. He held that position through 1946. When Luke Sewell departed late that season, Zack took over the managerial reins for the balance of the American League schedule. Last year he was a coach for the Pirates and at the close of the season was signed to manage the 1948 Browns.

Taylor's Major League connections included six years with the Dodgers, 1920 through 1925. However, part of his 1922 catching chores were with the Memphis club. He moved to the Boston Braves in 1926, and was with the Braves and Giants the following year. He was a Brave again in 1928, and a Brave and New York Giant in 1929. He spent the next four years, 1930 through 1933 with the Cubs. He returned to the minors with Syracuse for most of 1934 and wound up the season with the Yankees, his first association with the American League. His only appearance in a World Series as a player was with the Cubs in 1929.

Zack was born in Yulee, Florida, July 27, 1898 of English-Irish parents. He attended Rollins College in Winter Park, Florida for three years just prior to beginning his baseball career. Taylor is married and now resides in Orlando, Florida, where he has just built a new home. He was on the staff of Joe Stripp's Baseball School this spring and is the only major league manager to hold such a post. The Browns' new manager is an ardent fisherman, hunter and golfer, but most of his time and efforts are devoted to baseball.

FRED HOFMANN

COACH

Fred is a native St. Louisan and first saw the light of day June 10, 1895. His baseball career began 20 years later when he signed his first contract with the Cedar Rapids club in the Central Association as a catcher for the 1915 season. After four years of minor league ball he joined the Yankees and wore a New York uniform for seven years, 1919 through 1925. In 1926 he was sent to St. Paul in the American Association and played there two seasons. He then returned to the Majors with the Boston Red Sox for 1928 and part of 1929, winding up the season with the San Francisco Missions in the Pacific Coast League. He remained with the Missions through 1933, and was player-manager during his last two seasons with the club. After a year's absence from the game (1934) he was signed as player-manager of the Memphis club for 1935-36. In July of the latter year he resigned from the Memphis organization to become a scout for the Cardinals and manager of the Union City Team in the Kitty League. In 1937 Fred was manager of the Columbus, Ga., club in the South Atlantic loop. He joined the Browns as a coach the following year. The Hofmanns are married and have one son, Gary Wayne.

RALPH LEE WINEGARNER

COACH

The Brownies' new coach has been in the organization for several years having managed the Browns' clubs at San Antonio, Toledo and Elmira. He started his baseball career back in 1930 and was in the game continually until he was placed on the voluntary retired list in 1943, and did not return to baseball until 1946 when he was signed to manage the Elmira club for two seasons. Although listed as a pitcher, Ralph has played infield and outfield positions. His only major league appearances were with the Cleveland Indians in 1934 and 1935. Winegarner was born in Benton, Kansas, October 29, 1909 of Scotch-German parents, and still resides there. He attended Southwest College in Winfield, Kansas for one year. He stands six feet, one-half inch and weighs 185 pounds.

ERNEST RICHARD BICKHAUS
PITCHER

Height 6' Weight 185 Bats and throws right
Born Dec. 2, 1923 Resides in Quincy, Ill.
Married, One Son, Thomas Ernest

"Bick" attended school at Illinois College at Jacksonville, where he was a stellar member of the baseball team. He entered the Brownie organization in 1943 as a member of the Toledo club without previous professional baseball experience. Toledo sent him to Elmira on option where he remained until the latter part of 1946 when he was optioned to San Antonio. He was recalled by Elmira the following year, and the Browns purchased his contract from their Eastern league affiliate last fall. He had a 12-11 record and an earned-run mark of 2.57 with Elmira in 1945. With Elmira and San Antonio in 1946 his record shows 7 wins and 4 losses with the former and a 2-1 record with the latter, and a commendable earned-run-average of 2.29. His 140 strike-outs in 1945 put him second highest in the league.

ROBERT EDWARD DOYLE
PITCHER

Height 6' 4" Weight 195 Bats and throws right
Born Jan. 23, 1921 Resides in Staten Island, N.Y.
Single

Bob made his first professional baseball appearance with a AA club, Rochester in the International League, in 1938. However, after appearing in three games he was sent to a lower classification for more seasoning. His first stop was with New Iberia in the Evangeline League for the 1939 season where he won 7 and lost 4. The following season found him with the Cambridge club in the Eastern Shore loop. His first advancement came the following year when he jumped to class B baseball with Asheville. Columbus, Ga., was his home during the 1942 season where he went well over the .500 mark with 7 wins against 3 losses. After three years in the Army Air Force he returned to baseball and saw action in 12 games with Toledo in 1940 before he was released to Elmira where he remained until the Browns purchased him last fall.

CLEMENT JOHN DREISEWERD
PITCHER

Height 6' 1" Weight 200 Throws and bats left
Born Jan. 24, 1916 Resides in New Orleans
Married, One child; Karen Lynn

Dreisewerd has done quite a bit of traveling since annexing his signature to a contract in 1934 with Nashville. Since then he has been with three major league organizations, the New York Giants, Cardinals and Boston Red Sox. He was obtained from the latter this past winter along with Sam Dente in a deal involving Ellis Kinder and Bill Hitchcock. The Red Sox lost him to the Navy in 1945. He rejoined the Boston club after his discharge from Service the following year and won four games while losing only one. While with Portsmouth in the Mid-Atlantic league in 1940, his 23-9 record topped the league in the percentage column with a mark of .719, while his earned-run-average of 2.48 was the second best in the loop. During the winter months Dreisewerd operates his own cabinet and boat shop in New Orleans.

CLIFFORD BRYSON FANNIN
PITCHER

Height 6' Weight 170 Bats and Throws right
Born May 13, 1924 Resides in Toledo, Ohio
Married, One daughter Sandra Sue

Fannin, whose friends call him "Mule", broke in with Huntington, W. Va., in 1942. He moved to Toledo in 1943 and worked only 21 innings before being optioned to Elmira where he had the best season of his short term in baseball. His 8-1 record for a won and lost percentage of .889 was the highest in the Eastern League for pitchers appearing in ten or more games. His 1.99 earned-run-average also ranked among the leaders. He returned to Toledo in 1944 and remained with the Mud Hens until the Browns purchased him during the latter part of the 1945 season.

Born Dec. 25, 1925 Resides in Ney, Ohio
Married, One Son, Donald Franklin

Ned high-lighted his first year in professional baseball by topping the Ohio State league's earned-run-average column with the enviable mark of 1.21 while with the Newark club. He appeared in 32 games that season (1944) and came through with 21 victories and only 8 set-backs. His .724 average was also tops in the won and lost column. He spent the 1945 season with Toledo and Elmira, and was with San Antonio in 1946 and 1947. The Browns purchased his contract from the Missions last fall.

Born June 24, 1917 Resides in Joplin, Mo.
Married, Three Daughters, Lucy Ann, Linda Sue, Lisa Jane

Al is no stranger in these parts for he was born in St. Louis and attended Roosevelt High School. He has been in pro-ball since 1935, starting with the Rogers club in the Arkansas State league. He reached AA status in 1940 with the Kansas City Blues in the American Association and got to the major leagues three years later with the National League Phillies. He was with the Phillies in 1943 and 1944, and the Pirates in 1945-46. Pittsburgh sold his contract outright to Montreal last year and he came to the Browns via the draft route. His outstanding season was with Wenatchee of the Western International in 1939 when he won 14 and lost 5. His won and lost percentage of .737 was the best in the loop that year. Al's hobbies are working in wood and hunting, and his one superstition is that he will not have his picture taken prior to a ball game.

GLEN HUBERT MOULDER
PITCHER

Height 6' 1" Weight 180 Bats and throws right
Born Sept. 28, 1919 Resides in Albany, Ga.
Married, Two Children, Glen Hubert and Carol Irene

Glen has been in baseball since 1938 when he joined the Beatrice club in the Nebraska State league, where he struck-out 146 batters in 180 innings. He was with Olean, New York, in the Pony league the following year and in the Georgia-Florida loop with Americus in 1940 where he had his best season, winning 20 and losing 9 for a percentage of .700. He jumped to the class B Piedmont league with Durham and remained there two seasons, 1941-42. The next three years were spent in the Army Air Corps. His contract was then held by the Brooklyn organization, and after his reinstatement it was sold outright to the Dodger's Montreal club. The Browns drafted Moulder from the Royals after the close of their 1946 season.

Height 5' 11" Weight 190 Bats left, throws right
Born Aug. 23, 1912 Resides in Mt. Morris, Ill.
Married, Three Children, Nelson T., Barbara Ann and Jane P.

Nels has been with the Brownies since 1943, and the high-light of his career with the local American Leaguers was his .731 won and lost percentage for the 1944 season when he came through with 19 victories and suffered only 7 set-backs. His earned-run-average that season was 2.83, which was not quite as good as his 2.47 figure the following season. The Browns' veteran hurler started his baseball history with the Waterloo club of the Mississippi Valley league back in 1932. After three seasons of class D ball he jumped to the A 1 Texas league with Houston and never did return to a lower classification. His major league affiliations in addition to the Browns included the Cardinals, Athletics and Red Sox.

Born Feb. 26, 1923 Resides in Detroit, Mich.
Married

His full name is Raniszewski and his nick-name is "Ribs." He has been playing professional baseball since 1941 with the exception of two years (1944-45) when he served in the Navy Air Corps. Frank was with Paragould in the Northeast Arkansas league in 1941 and Huntington, Virginia., Mountain State circuit the following year. When the league failed to operate in 1943 owing to the war, his contract was transferred to Toledo, but Frank saw action in only five games with the Mud Hens that season. After returning from the Service in 1946 he was with Little Rock and Toledo.

JOHN FRED SANFORD
PITCHER

Height 6' Weight 200 Bats and throws right
Born Aug. 9, 1919 Resides in Salt Lake City
Married, Two Children, Kendall Fred and Terry Lynn

"Sandy's" baseball career was interrupted by two years in the Army. He served with the Field Artillery in Australia, East Indies, New Guinea and Japan before returning to baseball with the Browns in 1946, his first year in the major leagues. However, after appearing in three games he was sent to Toledo on option, the Browns recalling him at the end of the American Association's 1946 season. Sanford was the strike-out king of the Association that year with 154. He started in baseball with Youngstown in the Mid-Atlantic League in 1939 and spent two seasons there. He was advanced to San Antonio in 1941 and Toledo in 1942, remaining with the Mud Hens through 1943 when he enlisted in the Army.

Ray started as a catcher and was with Mt. Airy and Bassett in the Bi-State league in 1940. After a year's absence from the game he returned with Leaksville, N. C. in the same league in 1942, appearing in 31 games for a batting mark of .275. He then spent three years in the Army Air Force, and after his discharge he joined the Springfield club in the Three-Eye League as a pitcher. That was in 1946 and after a year in class B company he jumped to Toledo in the AAA American Association for the 1947 season. Although his record with the Mud Hens was not an impressive one, he seemed to possess enough stuff to warrant a try with the 1948 Browns.

PITCHER

Height 6' 4" Weight 210 Bats and throws right
Born July 14, 1920 Resides in Los Angeles
Married

Steve came to the Browns last winter in a deal with Cleveland involving Muncrief and Judnich. Stephens' one term with the Indians is the only one he has served in the major leagues. He started out with Henderson in the East Texas League in 1939, and was given a trial at Wilkes-Barre in the Eastern league the following season. However, after pitching fewer than 45 innings, he was sent to Charleston, W. Va., of the Mid-Atlantic league where he failed to hit the .500 mark, winning 9 games and losing 10. He was with Cedar Rapids and Tacoma in 1941 and Cedar Rapids all of the 1942 season. Stephens was the outstanding pitcher in the Three-Eye that year, winning 20 and losing only 4 games, with the loop's highest won and lost percentage, .833. In 182 innings he walked 70 and struck-out 155. He spent the next three years in the Army and saw service in England, France, Belgium and Germany.

JOHN MANLY STIVERS

Height 6' 2" Weight 190 Bats right, throws left
Born April 13, 1929 Resides in Corning, N.Y.
Single

Jack has had no previous experience in professional baseball so it is not likely that he will be among the Brownie regulars this year. Stivers first came to the attention of Brownie officials when he attended a try-out camp in Elmira last summer. He is a big fellow, and with some professional experience he should be a great pitcher. He earned varsity letters in baseball while attending high school, and pitched his team to the New York State Sectional Championship on two occasions, once as a sophomore and again as a senior. During the latter term he pitched a no-hit no-run game, the only one in New York Sectional history. He later attended Valparaiso College in Indiana.

Bud was signed by the Browns in mid-season last year and pitched in 5 games without having had previous professional experience. The Browns then optioned him to their Springfield club in the Three-Eye league where he got into 7 games, winning 2 and losing 3. He graduated from University High School in Los Angeles last year. During his senior term he was named the player of the year. Playing with the High School championship team he struck-out 88 in 42 innings and had an earned-run-average of .042. Had two no-hitters in two years of High School Baseball.

His record card lists him as a southpaw, but according to reports from the Browns' spring training base in San Bernardino, Cal., he is a righthander. Widmar came to the Brownies from the Red Sox in the deal which sent Vernon Stephens and Jack Kramer to Beantown. Al started out with the Canton, O., club in the Mid-Atlantic league in 1942, when he won 6 and lost 2 in his freshman year. He has not yet gone under the .500 mark. At Scranton in the Eastern league the following year he had a 10-5 record, and a 12-11 mark with Louisville in 1944. He was also with the Colonels in 1944-45-46, having respective records for those years of 10-8, 12-9, and 8-8.

He began his professional career in AA ball with the Louisville Colonels in 1943, getting off to a bad start with no victories and five losses. However, he redeemed himself the following year by winning 19 games while losing only 8 for the Colonels and his .704 average put him among the leading hurlers in the American Association that year. He ran away with top honors in the Complete Game column with 22. Jim made the Red Sox team in 1945, and after winning 6 games and dropping 8, Boston returned him to Louisville for 1946 and 1947.

Sam is one of the few moundsmen carried over from the 1947 Brownies and there is no reason why he should not be one of their standout pitchers this season. He started in baseball just ten years ago with Palatka in the Florida State League, and after missing the 1939-40 seasons, returned to the game in 1941 with Selma, Ala. in the Southeastern loop. His best year was with the Browns' Elmira club in 1943, when he won 20 and lost 10, with an earned-run-average of 2.73. Jake was playing semi-pro ball in 1935 when he signed a contract with the Chattanooga club for 1936. Chattanooga sent him to Jacksonville in the South Atlantic league where he was in 119 games and ended the season with a .299 batting mark. After just three seasons in the minors he made the major leagues with Washington and was with the Senators until traded to the Browns for Frank Mancuso in 1946. Jake was in the Army from March 1944 until November 1945 and saw active service in France, Luxembourg, Belgium and Germany. He was selected to play in the Major League All-Star game in 1943 and was the only catcher used by manager Joe McCarthy.

THOMAS J. JORDAN
CATCHER

Height 6' 2" Weight 200 Bats and throws right
Born Sept. 5, 1920 Resides in Roswell, N. M.
Married, Two Children, Thomas J. Jr., and Camille Elizabeth

During his freshman year in professional baseball with the Abbeville club in the Evangeline League in 1938, he led the circuit in doubles with 43, and wound up the season with a .328 batting average. His swat mark dropped to .295 the following year with the same club, but with Marshall in the East Texas league in 1940 he again passed the coveted three hundred mark with an average of .315, and also led the league in home runs with 19. Tom is strictly a long ball hitter, and if he can find the range of American League parks this summer he will be one of the out-standing Brownies of the year. Jordan played minor league ball until 1944 when he had a try with the White Sox. He caught in 14 games that season. Tom was placed on the Voluntary Retired list in 1945 and when reinstated in 1946 got into 24 games for the White Sox before going to Cleveland on waivers. He retired again early in 1947, but was reinstated by Cleveland in June of the same year and then purchased outright by the Browns and optioned to San Antonio.

Les' original contract in pro-ball was with the Three-Eye Springfield club in 1941. He was sent to Americus on option for the 1942 season and although having had no previous professional experience managed to rap out a commendable .297 batting average. He skipped a couple of grades the following year and jumped to Elmira in the Eastern League, compiling a .308 batting mark. His 86 hits, 18 doubles, 3 triples and 3 home runs accounted for 119 bases. The Merchant Marines caused him to miss the 1944 and 1945 seasons and when he returned to the game in 1946 the Browns sent him to Toledo for more prepping. He had a good season with the Mud Hens, batting .297 in 121 games, rapping out 21 doubles, a triple and 13 home runs for a total of 178 bases. He came to the Browns last season and didn't fare too well against major league pitching, undoubtedly due to being out of baseball for two years.

Joe is starting his twelfth year in professional baseball. His career started in 1937 with Albany, Ga. in the Georgia-Florida league. After two seasons in D ball and one in class B, he graduated to Columbus in the American Association. Joe's first major league appearance was with the Pirates in 1940 when he got into 16 games before being optioned to Portland in the Pacific Coast loop. He had a good year in the west, batting .325 in 34 games. He was also with Portland in 1941 and at the close of the season was recalled by the Pirates and sent to Memphis where he had the best year of his career with a batting average of .330 in 113 games. The Browns gave him a try in 1943 but decided he needed more experience and sent him to their Toledo club for the 1944 season where he piled up a .315 batting mark. He returned to the parent club in 1945 and has been a Brownie ever since.

"Gil" was an outstanding athlete at Washington-Lee High School in Arlington. Several colleges were interested in offering him baseball and football scholarships, but he decided to become a professional of the diamond. Five major league clubs had their scouts on his trail, but Charles DeWitt, the Browns' affable traveling secretary, beat them all and succeeded in signing Currin to a Brownie contract. Last June he travelled with the Browns to get the "feel" of the major leagues, and a month later he was sent to Springfield, Illinois, to get some real experience in the Three-Eye loop. The Browns recalled him near the end of the 1947 season and he saw action in a few major league games.

Bob has been in pro-ball since 1939, starting with Lincoln, Nebr. in the Western League. His other minor league affiliations included Youngstown, Mid-Atlantic League; Toledo, American Association and San Antonio, Texas League, covering the period from 1939 through 1942. He came up to the Browns in 1946 after serving three years in the Army Air Force. Dillinger was an all-around athlete at Glendale High School in California and accepted an athletic scholarship to the University of Idaho. After suffering a broken collar bone on two different occasions while playing football Bob decided to forsake the gridiron for the diamond. He is one of the fastest men in baseball and was the American League's leading base stealer last year with 34. He also led the Western League in that department in 1939 with 67, and repeated the performance the following season with Youngstown. Until Dillinger came to the Browns he played second base but was given an opportunity at the "hot corner" and has done an admirable job. He is one of the few players in the Major Leagues who wears glasses while playing.

Wes attended the Benedictine Military Academy at Richmond, Va., and majored in mathematics. He participated in baseball, basketball and football while in school. Hamner started his professional career with Richmond in the Piedmont League in 1943, and has since played with Atlanta, Memphis, and the Philadelphia Phillies. The Phillies released him outright to Toronto last year and the Browns drafted him from the Maple Leafs during the winter. While with Richmond in 1944 his 31 stolen bases put him in a tie for the Piedmont League's top honors in that column. In 1946 while with Atlanta, he was chosen the All-Star shortstop of the Southern Association. He had a .301 batting average that year. Wes has performed at second, third and shortstop, but oddly enough has never played the same position in two consecutive seasons.

"Pelly" celebrated his first season in professional baseball by hitting 21 home runs for Danville in the Bi-State league in 1938. His record shows the following itinerary; Rocky Mount, N. C., Piedmont League, and Canton, O., Mid Atlantic, 1939; Scranton, Pa., Eastern League 1940; San Diego, Pacific Coast, 1941 and Louisville, American Association 1942. He was in the Navy the next three years and upon his return to baseball in 1946 found himself in the Major Leagues with Boston. He remained there with the Red Sox until the Browns got him in the Stephens-Kramer deal. In his first appearance with Boston he hit a home run against Washington that proved to be the winning marker. He also hit the first major league home run of the 1947 season, and the day his twins were born last August he celebrated the occasion by blasting another four-bagger. While with San Diego he played 33 consecutive games at short without an error.
